

BRP CONFLICT MINERAL POLICY

Background

In 2012, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission adopted rules pursuant to Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act which established disclosure requirements related to certain minerals originating from mines in the Democratic Republic of the Congo or adjoining countries (“Covered Countries”). These rules require publicly-traded companies to report annually on the source and chain of custody of gold, tin, tantalum and tungsten (“3TG”) in products manufactured by the company.

Policy Statement

BRP strives to be a good corporate citizen. We are committed to ensuring the health, safety and protection of people who use our products. We require high social, environmental and human rights standards among our suppliers. Managing our obligations in relation to Conflict Minerals is a part of this corporate responsibility.

BRP supports the goal of ending the violence and human rights violations in the Covered Countries. BRP is committed to have a global supply chain that is in compliance with the conflict mineral rules. BRP has no direct relationships with mines, smelters or refiners of 3TGs, we rely on our direct suppliers to provide information on the origin of the 3TGs contained in components and materials supplied to us and expect our suppliers to take similar measures with their suppliers to ensure a consistent policy alignment throughout the supply chain.
